PROMOTION

The promoting rewards system is based on a ladder structure. The primary goal of curators is to get into the top of the ladder.

The first step is for the curator to create content for map promotion, which will then be evaluated and selected as the best promoted content. These content will enter the competition stage, where they will compete with other content based on their performance. Curators who participate in the competition-level content will receive rewards that reflect their performance, contribution amount, and timing.

MAPS OF THE DAY AUCTION

Map of the day auction is a monthly feature that showcases one of the best maps from the community, based on the players' votes. Each player can cast their vote for their preferred map using $RAVE tokens, and the voting power is determined by the following formula:

Voting power = number of $RAVE deposited x Player's Reputation Points

After the voting period, $RAVE tokens are accumulated in a pool. If a map becomes the map of the day, the map owners and the voters who backed the winning map will be rewarded from the pool, according to their proportional contribution.
